Reviews

This pdf is indeed gripping and interesting. It is definitely simplistic but shocks within the 50 percent of your book. Once you begin to read the book, it is extremely difficult to leave it before concluding.

I45 2008s OCLC Number: (OCoLC)311578915 Subject: Energy consumption -- Alaska -- Costs. Excerpt: . . . 11 of these steps will help with the immediate crisis, but fall far short of what is need-ed for the long term. Turning to viable sustainable energy solutions, AFN and its member organiza-tions are strong supporters of the development of alternative energy resources as an important addition to our countrys fossil energy resources. Many villages in rural Alaska are actively working to develop a wide array of alternative and renew-able energy projects. They see not only the potential for reducing the cost of energy, but also the tremendous manufacturing, sales and service components (e. g. , the fact that wind and solar energy will need tailored products, services and alternative building materials; and the fact that plans and supplies for hybrid homes and facili-ties that are now being developed and manufactured abroad could be developed and manufactured in Alaska. Our larger cities are doing the same. Alaska is so large and diverse that one Villages alternative resources may not be available elsewhere. Some areas have strong wind for electrical generation; others can look to geothermal resources. There is no one-size-fits-all solution for rural Alaska, making local solutions more specific and expensive. Because of the vastness of Alaska and its virtually unlimited potential, Alaska can be a model for the rest of the country. Our communities could be part of a national demonstration project on alternative energy technologies. We could serve as a proving ground to show how Alaska Native people and their institutions have the experience, the capital and the community relationships that will be necessary to effectively implement workable solutions to the energy crisis....
